BIG CROWD GREETED SECRETARY DANIELS

Made Speech at Democratic Rally at Freeman's Hall.--Congressmen
Reed and Stevens Also Speakers.--Judge Page Presided.

Hon. Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, addressed a crowd of people at Freeman's Hall, on Saturday evening, which taxed the capacity of the hall. It was a Democratic Rally, but a casual observer would say that the Republicans present outnumbered the Democrats. The audience gave the Secretary a very fine greeting and close attention to a very fine address, devoted principally to the greatness of President Wilson and the work of the present administration.

The Secretary arrived here Saturday noon, accompanied by Congressman Eugene B. Reed of Manchester, and Congressman Raymond Stevens of the Second District, and they were met by Chairman John W. Emery of the Democratic City Committee Judge Calvin Page and Dr. S. T. Ladd and Exalted Ruler W. T. Entwistle and a committee from the Portsmouth Elks who invited the Secretary to be the guest of the Elks at a luncheon at 5.15 which was accepted and later carried out.

While here the Secretary and party paid an official visit to the navy and arriving at 2.15 and being received with the customary military honors by Capt. Harry A. Field, the Acting Commandant.

Councilor Noone, the Democratic candidate for Governor, who was not scheduled for the rally, arrived in his decorated automobile at 5 and joined the party at the Rockingham.

At 7.30 the Secretary and speakers were escorted from the Rockingham hotel to Freeman's hall by the Portsmouth band and some fifty Democrats. The hall was crowded when Chairman Emery introduced Judge Page as the Chairman of the evening, and in one of his usual brilliant talks he introduced Mr. Noone the Democratic candidate for Governor, who spoke on what the present state administration had done and what money he would have for the state if he was elected governor.

Congressman Reed

Judge Page next introduced Congressman Eugene B. Reed, who after paying a compliment to Portsmouth and expressing his thanks for the courtesy which had been shown him during the day, he devoted his time to giving an account of his record in Congress. He made a very fine address and was given fine attention. It would afford him a good deal of pleasure to tell his hearers of the work of the great American congress and of that great friend of the common people, of the greatest president of the United States since the time of Lincoln.

JURY DISAGREES IN CARMAN CASE

Freeport Woman May Not Again Be Brought to Trial.

Mincola, N. Y., October 25.—Twelve men, sitting as a jury, came into the supreme court room here at 10.53 this morning and announced that they had been unable to determine whether Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman, wife of Dr. Edwin Carman of Freeport, on the night of June 30th last, thrust a revolver through a shattered window pane in the physician's office and shot and killed Mrs. Louise Bailey, a patient, who was standing there.

The jury deliberated more than 13 hours. On the final ballot, 10 jurors favored acquitting the defendant and two held out for finding her guilty of murder in the first degree as charged in the indictment.

As far as the state is concerned, it is unlikely that Mrs. Carman ever will be brought to trial again. Before the jury came in District Attorney Lewis J. Smith said if it stood even, 8 to 4, for acquittal, it was improbable that he would bring the defendant to the bar again.

Attorneys for Mrs. Carman will make an application tomorrow morning to have her admitted to bail. Such a motion will not be opposed by the district attorney.

The defendant is on the verge of a complete physical breakdown, following a collapse in the court room after the jury was discharged. It was said at the Nassau county jail here tonight that Mrs. Carman has been crying constantly ever since she was returned to her cell.

ENGLAND WILL GIVE PLEDGE ON SHIPPING

Will Not Molest Contrabands Being Shipped in American Ships to Neutral Ports.--Proposes the Guarantee System.

London, Oct. 25.—The British government has outlined a proposal to Washington which it is felt offers a speedy and simple solution of the vexatious problem of shipments of contraband to Dutch and Scandinavian ports. It carries with it the guarantee that future American shipments to these ports will be undisturbed.

The proposal is that the United States request Holland, Denmark, Norway and Sweden to permit American shipments to be made to these governments or to indicate a means by which contraband consigned to these neutral countries will be guaranteed against having Germany as their final destination.

Holland has already adopted this idea concerning American shipments of several important commodities with such success that Great Britain is urging an extension of the same procedure as the simplest means to eliminate at one blow the misunderstandings relative to contraband, which already are numerous between the United States and Britain, in view of cumulative evidence that German agents in New York are arranging for petroleum and other contraband to be shipped to nearby neutral ports for the German army. British war ships have received orders to detain contraband consigned to order or to any consigner where there is doubt about the final destination.

England Summarizes Her Position

In reply to a request for information from the United States, Great Britain has summarized her attitude by stating that if it is no guarantee that the goods shipped are not destined for Germany, England cannot guarantee they will not be detained. At the same time the British government makes clear that contraband shipped to neutral ports to be sold to the highest bidder will be seized because the highest bidder naturally would be Germany.

I am informed that Washington has been anxiously remonstrating against these increasingly stringent measures, but it is confidently felt here that President Wilson is the last man who would support the evasive methods by which the Germans are endeavoring to replenish their war supplies, and that Mr. Wilson's policy of strict neutrality means no help to German agents to evade international law.

Great Britain wants to aid rather than molest bona fide American shipping to neutral ports, but is determined to raise a barrier against shipments to Germany by sub rosa methods.

The American owner of a large European business informed the correspondent today that he had made most satisfactory arrangements to ship to Scandinavian ports, because he insisted that the goods be consigned to the government, as any firm doing a bona fide business can do. He said: "All these contraband problems are being raised by firms trying to do business with Germany despite the fact that Great Britain controls the seas."

Great Britain Wants no Friction

The newspapers here give great prominence to the question of American inflation over the seizure of American ships suspected of carrying contraband of war. While the press and the government are disposed to laugh at insinuations that the seizure of the oil ships was due to the fear that they would provide fuel for Zeppelins, there is no doubt that Great Britain will go to the extreme to avoid friction with the United States, which never was stronger in the affections of England than now.

Although attacked by the jingo press here for refusal to search American ships for contraband, the British government determined to err on the side of liberality as far as the United States, Holland and Scandinavia are concerned. That explains the speedy release of the oil steamship, John D. Rockefeller.

There will be no more holdups of contraband aboard American vessels unless the evidence is overwhelming that it is destined to serve the enemy. Suspicion will not do, and the government will not act unless it should have positive proof.

The attitude if the American, Dutch and Scandinavian governments and peoples has been magnificent in this war, the English think, and that is why, though German and Austrian contraband vessels have been reported on board vessels of these neutrals, there has been no attempt by the British to seize them.

On the question of contraband the British government may be counted upon to exercise the greatest discretion and liberality, England thoroughly appreciating the absolute neutrality of the United States and grateful for the sympathy of the citizens of the great republic.

Raises Embargo on Foodstuffs

As a result of the urgent representations made to the Foreign Office this afternoon by Mr. Walter Dines Page, the American Ambassador, the British government has given its permission for the raising of the existing embargo on foodstuffs to the extent of allowing vessels to depart for Holland with a quarter of a million dollars' worth of food purchased by the American Committee for the relief of Belgium.

Every effort will be made to hasten the despatch of this cargo, as the slowness of land transportation means that it probably will be ten days before the food reaches its destination.

The failure of the Foreign Office to give permission earlier is said to be due to a misunderstanding between the Board of Trade and the Belgian Minister to London, who was under the impression that the Board had granted permission for him to send relief to his countrymen.

The protest of the United States against the seizure by British war ships of the American oil ship Plinius was the subject of a Ministerial conference today, but according to the Foreign Office, no decision was reached. Those who attended the conference were the Premier, Mr. Asquith, the Foreign Secretary, Sir Edward Grey, the First Lord of the Admiralty, Mr. Winston S. Churchill, the Lord High Chancellor, Viscount Haldane, and the President of the Board of Trade, Mr. W. Runciman.

WORLD'S CANVAS GIVES N. H. REPUBLICAN IN COMING ELECTION

The New York Sunday World, which, with seven other papers in different parts of the country, have made a careful canvass of the outcome of the November election, credit New Hampshire with going back in the Republican folds. They predict that Senator Gallinger will be elected over Raymond B. Stevens and also predict that both Congressmen will be Republicans.

They however claim that the Democrats will have control of the house, over Republicans and progressives by at least nineteen and in the Senate by from twelve to fourteen. Republicans will win back about fifty seats in Congress and many new faces will be seen in the Senate. The World and in fact, all of the papers making the canvass, are Democratic papers, and they seem to have the right idea in New Hampshire at least.

CONGRESS ADJOURNS

Washington, Oct. 25.—After nearly 10 months of continuous session since the inauguration of Woodrow Wilson, the 63d Congress adjourned its second session Saturday after a collapse of prolonged efforts to procure relief legislation for cotton growers. Leaders in this movement agreed to adjourn, however, only on the condition that pending cotton relief measures would have right of way in the House when Congress reconvenes, Dec. 1.

Not more than 50 members of the House and less than a quorum of the Senate were present when the adjournment took place without any delay. The end was accomplished through the passage of a concurrent resolution ending the session at 4 p. m., but clocks were turned ahead in both chambers, actual adjournment in the House occurring at 3:22 o'clock and in the Senate at 3:27.

Speaker Clark Thanks All

As the altered hands of the House clock drew near 4, while the Senate was winding up executive business, Speaker Clark arose at his desk and, facing the scattered attendance on the floor said:

"This is the longest and most laborious session that Congress ever has known. I congratulate you most heartily on being able to adjourn at last. I wish to thank every member of the House, Democratic, Republican and Independent, for uniform courtesy shown to the Speaker. Now, in the language of 'Toby Tim,' God bless us every one."

The Senate adjournment probably was the most undemonstrative in its history. Democratic leaders and a few Republicans were sitting behind closed doors conferring nomination when word came that the House had carried out the adjournment resolution.

Senator Kern, the majority leader, at once moved to open the doors. When this was ordered the doorkeeper hurriedly set the clock ahead and Senator Swanson of Virginia, presiding in the absence of the Vice President and President pro tempore Clark announced that the Senate was adjourned.

Senators who had remained for the final hurriedly left the chamber. Might Hurt Chances of Success. In announcing the abandonment of their filibuster for cotton legislation following a conference held early in the day, Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia and Representative Henry of Texas told the Senate and House it was apparent that no quorum could be procured for consideration of cotton legislation at this time, and that further filibustering might injure chances of ultimate success.

Representative Henry expressed his conviction that Congress would be convened in extraordinary session by the middle of November, when the fight could be resumed. Senator Smith introduced a bill for a $250,000 government bond issue to buy cotton, and declared:

"We have done all we could for the suffering people of the South. We have had our day in court for this season and I would have no excuse for further filibustering at this time. I shall feel that I have done my duty by simply voting against this adjournment resolution."

The House adopted a resolution authorizing the appointment of a commission to investigate cotton conditions in the South and report possible measures for federal aid by Dec. 15. On the committee were Representatives Mann, Austin, Henry, Lever, Hedin, Hall of Georgia and Langley.

The City of Chicago is billed from end to end announcing John Bunny's visit to the Auditorium Theatre in that city, where he will make his first appearance in "Bunny in Bunnyland." As you know, Bunny has a year's vacation from the Vitagraph Company and intends to tour the world in Vaudeville at the head of fifty-one singers, actors, dancers and specialists.

The Lubin serial is meeting with much success—beyond expectation, say the Lubin company. Needless to say, "The Beloved Adventurer" is the serial that is referred to. The fans of Portsmouth should consider themselves fortunate that they are able to see this serial.

The B. A. Rolfe has signed an agreement with Thomas Jefferson, the legitimate star, to take the leading role in "Rip Van Winkle."

Clara Kimball Young, recently with the Vitagraph has started on her new work with the World Film, to base on Henry Mitchell Webster's story of "The Butterfly" which is one of the most popular current works of fiction and which was accorded much popularity when it appeared serially in "The Saturday Evening Post."

James Young, who is her husband in private life, also stars in this film. Moving Pictures of Washington, D. C., will be features of the Exposition at 'Prisca' next year. In these pictures a few of the following places will be seen: Mount Vernon, of George Washington fame; Arlington Cemetery, Fort Myer, Va., a cavalry and army post; Washington Monument; various public buildings; the Cabinet officers, members of Congress in action and many other views.

Cinema men have been sent to Alaska where they will take pictures in that part of our off-spring. There will also be reels showing reclamation projects, forest fires, and means of fire protection; the Indian schools and the arrival of immigrants; at Ellis Island; the Panama Canal as it appeared in 1911 and again in 1914 showing the progress of culture through the big ditch, and motion pictures will be utilized to depict many other government activities that should be of marked interest to all who will be able to see them. The people from dear old Portsmouth that see them, don't forget those that you have left behind—make a big mental note of all you see—tell us when you return.

For the sake of obtaining realism for a multiple reel picture, The Electric Company sings a sensational aeroplane wreck in which the machine and its occupants actually fall over 200 feet. The aviator was paid a princely sum for this piece of work. No doubt it was worth it when you think that he took his life in his hands.

Back again, Leo Delany, formerly of the Vitagraph Company, who has been taking a much needed rest, has returned again to the above company. Mr. Delany is one of the best actors in the Vitagraph ranks and his rendition to the company will be acclaimed with joy by all. Do you remember that he invariably was cast with Norma Talmadge and Van Dyke Brooks?

The moving picture men in the West claim to have a scheme that will partly abolish the "dead" seats in the movie houses. Small electric lights are placed on the back of the empty seats which will plainly mark those seats that remain unoccupied. A patron coming in from the back can tell at a glance by the burning signals, just where the vacant seats are. A pressure of twenty pounds breaks the connections and the light goes extinguished. What do you think of this scheme?

The B. A. Rolfe Co., has signed an agreement with Thomas Jefferson, the legitimate star, to take the leading role in "Rip Van Winkle."

REPUBLICAN RALLY THIS EVENING

A Republican Rally will be held at Freeman's hall this evening, at which time Senator Jacob H. Gallinger will deliver a speech on the National Issues. Ex-Congressman Sullivan will also speak and he will devote some time to the state issues and the work of the present administration.

Another speaker will be Hon. Isaac M. Macklin of North Carolina, former Senator. He is said to be one of the most brilliant political orators in the country.

The Portsmouth band will furnish music for the escort from the Rockingham hotel to the hall.

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

If cross, feverish or bilious give "California Syrup of Figs."

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver, and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they (they) love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs"; then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

REV. FR. O'NEIL DIES AT LACONIAPastor of St. Joseph's Church Succumbs at Hospital After Two Weeks' Illness.

Laconia, October 25.—The Rev. John P. O'Neill who for the past three years has been pastor of the St. Joseph church, this city, died at the Laconia hospital at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon after an illness that has restricted him to the hospital for the past two weeks.

Rev. Father John P. O'Neill was born in Manchester, March 3, 1855, being the son of Henry and Hannah (Pahey) O'Neill. His early education was received at the Old Park street school in Manchester. His classical education he received at Holy Cross college at Worcester and his priestly training was received at the Brighton Seminary at Brighton, Mass., where he received holy orders, December 19, 1881. He celebrated his first mass at St. Anne's church in Manchester.

He has served as curate at the Immaculate Conception church, Portsmouth; curate at the church of the Immaculate Conception, Nashua and at St. Anne's church in Manchester. He was appointed pastor of St. Peter's church at Peterborough by the late Bishop Dennis M. Bradley, holding the pastorate until he was appointed pastor of St. Joseph's church in this city, by Rt. Rev. George Albert Guehin of Manchester, where he succeeded the late Rev. Father Charles R. Hennon.

During his pastorate here he won the high esteem not only of the members of his parish but of the citizens throughout the city. His surviving relatives are an aunt, Mrs. Maria Pahey of Manchester and two nephews, John H. Pahey of Boston and William H. Pahey of Manchester.

The funeral services will be held from St. Joseph's church Tuesday morning at 10.30 o'clock.

GIRLS' CLUB NOTES

The committee meeting will be held this evening at 7 o'clock. This meeting is called to make plans for the Halloween party to be held on Friday evening.

Captain Thomas Crowley of York was a visitor in town on Saturday. As a final attempt to extinguish the fire in the line schooner Anne S. Stuart, the vessel was scuttled on Saturday night. While this treatment is certain to put out the fire, nine times out of ten the vessel is ruined in the process, as the swelling of the line usually bursts the craft open, and this is exactly what has happened to the Stuart. She lies at the mouth of Wolf creek, Gerrish Island, and adds one to the long list of lime-hulk vessels coming to grief in this harbor. Among the victims in recent years may be mentioned the George W. Grover, Aymes Chamberlain, Eastern Light, George A. Leland, Herman P. Kimball and Woodbury M. Snow. Any news item telephoned to 897-Y will be greatly appreciated by your correspondent.

Bally Day was observed at both of the local churches on Sunday, and special programs were carried out. There was a large attendance at all services and many visitors were present.

At the Second Christian church, at the morning service a special sermon was heard. At noon, the Sunday school carried out the program, previously announced, at which time Rev. Percy W. Caswell of Portsmouth, made a short address before the school.

Mr. Alexander Donnell, at this time, in behalf of Judge James Locke, presented the Sunday school with a framed picture of the late Samuel Budger Neal, a former superintendent of the school. Mr. James R. Philbrick, who told in well chosen words of his personal acquaintance and friendship with Mr. Neal, and of his sterling qualities.

At 7 o'clock the following program was carried out to a well-filled auditorium of relatives and friends:

Organ, Voluntary.

Singing—"Joy Bells" No 56—School and congregation.

Responsive reading—Superintendent and school.

Scripture reading.

Singing—"Hallelujah"—School.

Greeting—"Three girls."

Welcome Words—Four girls.

Recitation—"A Lesson From Mrs. Sphier"—Roberta Landers.

Music—Mrs. Fuller and Mr. Sprague, Offering and collects.

Exercise—"Recruits in the Army of Jesus"—Four boys.

Exercise—"The Call of the Cross"—Primary Dept.

Recitation—"Now Won't Some One Explain"—Gordon Burnham.

Song—"Little Bird"—Primary Department.

Recitation—"A Kind Word"—Gladys Gaudwin.

Exercise—"Bally Day Girls"—Four girls.

Solo—Mr. Sprague.

Address on "Loyalty"—Mr. Donald W. McNichol, Secretary of Portsmouth Y. M. C. A.

Song—"Onward Christian Soldiers"—No. 203—School and congregation.

At the Second Methodist church on Sunday a very successful program entitled "The Bugle Call" was given by the Sunday school. All departments of the school were present, including the members of the Cradle Roll, and the Home Department. One hundred and sixty-three were present at this service. The regular collection amounted to $18.60. An interesting feature of the morning service was the baptism of four children by the pastor, Rev. A. J. Hayes.

Miss Gladys Philbrick of Portsmouth visited friends in town on Sunday.

Mr. Harry Seawards passed Sunday in Boston.

The Orange Sewing Circle will meet with Miss Helen Johnson of Love Lane on Wednesday evening.

Misses Albert Hunt, George and Joseph Heene, Daniel Landers, Howard Keene and Austin Trevelyan are on a hunting trip in Northern Maine.

Miss Alice Dixon and Mr. Howard Nelson of Ellot were calling on friends at the Intervale on Sunday.

Mrs. Ira Keene has returned from Portland and Auburn where she has been visiting.

NO ADDITIONS YET.But B. & M. May Add More Trains About March 1.

The usual rumors are spreading over the Boston and Maine system in regard to alleged changes in train service. This time, however, it is the reverse of what is usually the case. They are saying trains will be added as it is said that business warrants it. It will be recalled that when the fall and winter schedule went into effect the service was cut to the bone everywhere. This has given rise to much dissatisfaction and it is reported that on November 1 there will be some trains put back. Railroad men do not regard this as being very probable for they point out the leanest months of the whole year are now about due. They say they look for more trains about March 1, but not until then.

SECRETARY DANIELS INSPECTS NAVY YARD

Most Thorough Made for Years.—Visited Every Shop and Talked with Master Workmen.

Hon. Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, paid an official visit to the Portsmouth navy yard on Saturday afternoon. He was accompanied by Congressman Reed and Stevens and was received by Captain Fields, the Acting Commandant, and with the customary salute of nineteen guns and his official flag was run up on the office building.

At the Administration building he was greeted by the heads of the department and accompanied by them he made what was probably the most thorough inspection of the yard, that has been made by a Secretary for many years. He visited every shop of any importance and looked them over pretty thoroughly. At each shop he met and talked with the foreman and in many cases with some of the leading men and showed a keen insight into the work of the various shops. He made many inquiries about the work and the ability of the workmen and of the labor supply and also inquired of one of the officers about the work and seemed surprised when he was informed that the climate was such that outside work was carried on all times of the year and that few if any days were lost owing to extreme weather. The Franklin ship house where the building ways are being made ready for the submarine work was also given an inspection and the Secretary was much interested and stated that the submarine promised to be an important consideration for the navy and that this was the first yard at which one would be built.

It was nearly five o'clock when the Secretary and party left the yard for this city, and went direct to the Essex House, where there was an informal reception and luncheon. It was strictly informal and after he had been greeted by Exalted Ruler Entwistle he met many of the members who called in. The party then returned to the Rockingham Hotel.

the British aircraft. Although the latter have been constantly attacked by German submarines, torpedoed, being fired again and again at the Wilhelms, the Marnado and other British vessels the enemy has been unsuccessful, no loss having been sustained by the British, which, though made up of units of little naval importance, has done splendid work in clearing the coast of the enemy.

German prisoners captured by the Belgians report that the fire from the British vessels caused a panic in the German ranks. The trenches were filled with dead and wounded, the fighting being so fierce and continuous that there was no chance to succor the wounded, many, therefore, dying where they fell, thus adding to the frightful list of casualties.

This German dash for Dunkirk and Calais is regarded as the supreme effort in the western theatre of war. Military experts here hold that if it succeeds it merely will mean that the war will be longer but it falls it will spell disaster to the German army.

NO HEADACHE OR NEURALGIA PAIN

Get a 10 cent package of Dr. James' Headache Powders and don't suffer.

When your head aches you simply must have relief or you will go wild. It's needless to suffer when you can take a remedy like Dr. James' Headache Powders and relieve the pain and neuralgia at once. Send someone to the drug store now for a dime package of Dr. James' Headache Powders. Don't suffer. In a few moments you will feel fine—headache gone—no more neuralgia pain.

ELIOT

George H. Kennard, who has been in town several weeks, shipping his apples and attending to various other duties at his farm, finished his work today and returns to Boston on Sunday to report for duty. George's love for his old home town never wanes and he also enjoys the distinction as being one of the most popular manipulators of the punch on the Boston & Maine railroad.

Shirley Remick of South Eliot is moving his family to Portsmouth. Mr. Remick is an engineer on the Boston & Maine railroad.

Edward P. Downing of Taunton, an engineer of the N. Y. N. H. and H. R. R., slipped on his engine a few days ago, causing a severe internal bruise. It was at first thought that a broken rib had resulted. The accident was a painful one but we are glad to say that he is back on his engine. Ed, as he is familiarly called in his native town, runs the Newport and Mansfield express.

Mr. Ernest Blumhuck of Portsmouth, singing teacher in our public schools, has a method of teaching the juvenile class that is highly pleasing and intensely interesting to the little ones.

The apple shipping industry is about closed. The Boston & Maine station has been a busy place for the past three weeks.

That the Boston & Maine railroad is boosting its freight rates is no dream, when a horse shipped from Boston this week was billed at $22. This was no round trip ticket, either. This surely ought to bring some dividends to the stockholders.

STATE NEEDS SERVICE OF MAN OF HOUR

United States Senator Jacob H. Gallinger Recognized as Friend of New Hamp- shire in Crucial Period

While confident of his choice by the people in the first direct senatorial election in the state, the friends of United States Senator Jacob H. Gallinger are exerting themselves to the utmost in order that a vote may be cast to his credit, which shall be an honor to the state of New Hampshire, as well as to the candidate.

While the fact that it is the first direct senatorial election lends importance, and in that sense it may be regarded as more or less of an epochal character, the choice of Senator Gallinger is considered as bearing more distinctly on state and national attributes than is the ordinary selection of a candidate for office.

This is due largely to the fact that almost generally it is regarded that the state of New Hampshire needs particularly the services of a man like

SENATOR JACOB H. GALLINGER

Jacob H. Gallinger. It is truly a case of the office seeking the man; and any statement that his wide experience and remarkable ability would not be of exceptional advantage to the Granite State at this crucial period in the affairs of the nation can be regarded as based on misinformation, or offered with an intent to misrepresent the situation.

The friends of Senator Gallinger do not question the intellectual attributes of the Democratic nominee, but, under existing conditions, they believe the interests of the state will be much better served by the appearance of a representative in the senatorial chamber of Jacob H. Gallinger than by Raymond P. Stevens.

To many, the drift of argument which the present campaign is taking is proof of this, so far as can be judged by occasional newspaper quotations of speeches. Candidate Stevens is reported as devoting much of his attention to declaring that the wealth of the nation is unevenly distributed. This may be true, and, at any rate, it is a subject for extensive discussion, but it is a decidedly abstract line of argument when placed before the concrete situation of dozens of shoe factories curtailing production and many mills running on half-time.

The difference between a Democratic theoretical administration of affairs and the Republican business program is aptly shown in the Gallinger and Stevens campaign.

Thus far a canvass of votes throughout the state indicates that the people today are more concerned in finding work enough.

To provide bread and butter for the numerous families in conjunction with the usual comforts and privileges, which under Republican control they have enjoyed for scores of years, than considering the injustice of the fact that somebody like Vincent Astor or John D. Rockefeller has more wealth than he ought, and that, by following the Democratic line of argument and voting for its party candidate, some time in the dim and dusty future, two or three centuries hence, a slice may be garnered from those vast estates and distributed among the children's children of the present day voters.

New Hampshire people have found that the present situation demands immediate attention and remedy. Senator Gallinger stands for the sound Republican policy of important business development and subsequent general prosperity. When disaster threatens the industries of New England in general, and New Hampshire in particular, it is felt to be no time to wander afar in fields after will-o-the-wisps of unequal wealth distribution and socialist propaganda of that ilk.

One of the strongest points against the present Democratic senatorial candidate is that a majority of the Democratic voters at the primary expressed a preference against him, because of the prevailing opinion that his general make-up and tendencies are of too radical a character for the demands of present day business and prosperity. He became the nominee of the party of this year because those opposed to him divided their support between two men, and, therefore, Mr. Stevens received the nomination by a plurality, although the combined vote of Judge Calvin Page of Portsmouth and Mayor William Barry of Nashua was much larger than that of the successful man. The conservative sentiment of the Democratic party was represented in the number of ballots cast for Messrs. Page and Barry, as against that of the radical vote cast for Mr. Stevens.

It is no secret that Mr. Stevens' expression of ultra radical ideas and socialist pronouncement were displeasing to many members of the party, who believe firmly that New Hampshire business interests and the prosperity of its people are paramount in importance to any plans which may be devised for "whacking up" the millions of dollars of individuals in the dusty future. This proposition is given expression to in the columns

AT ONCE! STOPS STOMACH MISERY AND INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" makes sick, sour, gassy Stomachs feel fine.

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly; ferment into stubborn lumps and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or Mrs. Dyspeptic, get this down: Pape's Diapepsin digests everything, leaving nothing to sour and upset you. There never was anything so safely quick, so certainly effective. No difference how badly your stomach is disordered you will get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow, but not sure. "Pape's Diapepsin" is quick, positive and puts your stomach in a healthy condition, so the misery won't come back.

You feel different as soon as "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gases, no belching, no eruptions of undigested food, your head clears and you feel fine.

Go now, make the best investment you ever made, by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder.

GERMANS MAKING FIERCE ASSAULTS

London, Oct. 26.—Germany has brought up its last reserves, boys and white-haired men, to aid General von Klouk in the terrific battle which is being fought between Arras and the North Sea. While the Germans, nervous to desperation, have forced their way to the north of Bixmaude and La Bassée in an effort to cross the Yser and break through the allies lines, the British war ships are sweeping the enemy away from the coast. The allied troops, Belgians and French, advancing from Neuport, are reported to be engaged with the Germans on the outskirts of Ostend, while the British monitors are bombarding the German batteries in the town itself.

The Allies have gained more ground between Lille and Francelles and the enemy's forces near Armentieres have been weakened by drafts made to support the German extreme right, which is reported to be in a perilous position.

There is good news for the Allies, too, from the battle line which extends from Verdun to St. Mihiel thence to Pont-a-Mousson. Here the French seem to have the enemy in a trap, and in order to prevent it from being sprung the German commander yesterday asked an armistice on the plea that he wished to bury the dead and rescue the wounded. This was sternly refused by the French commander, who significantly added: "Our troops resumed the attack at once, obtaining an advance which the German designed to gain as the result of an armistice."

Fighting on Historic Battle Ground

All newspapers here this morning recall that the fierce fighting at Arras, Lille, Bethune, Alre, Menin and Neuport has been upon the ground on which the great Marlborough achieved his greatest triumphs. Then, as now, the English forces were supported from the sea, and in describing the fighting near Neuport yesterday the Admiralty reports that three monitors with the rest of the British bombardment flotilla under Admiral Hood, worked in concert with the brave little Belgian army on land, inflicted heavy losses on the enemy.

The Germans again and again attempted to take Neuport, but all assaults were repulsed, the naval fire enfilading the German lines, scattering death and destruction on every hand. Several German batteries were destroyed by shell fire from the monitors.

That this battle for the Channel ports is developing into what Berlin calls the most violent and important of the war is evident from the report that the British war ships are bombarding the German positions in Ostend and that General von Klouk has been reinforced by fully half a million men. It is the first great battle in history, too, in which air, land, sea and undersea forces have been brought into combined action. In this great battle the deadly fire of the British war ships is being directed as the result of reconnaissances and observations by aeroplanes and naval air ships.

Great Work by British War Ships

While the Germans also are employing aerial forces they are said to be inferior in speed and handling to
